Hello

My name is Istvan Fekete and I am from Hungary. Currently, I am studying bachelor programme - Web development in Esbjerg.

I like to describe myself as curious, easy-going and optimistic. Curiosity is my biggest strength because I seek knowledge even about unnecessary topics. Thinker would probably be the word I would describe myself as. Finding patterns is something I love to do, even in my everyday life. I consider it as an advantage for the developer career because I think with my curiosity and noticing patterns I have an easier time understanding other people's code and re-using it in the future. Keeping up with the trends and updates in this field is something I find important because educating yourself is my biggest value. Especially in the IT world, it is necessary to go with the time.

I have a passion for creating responsive applications. Therefore I want to work either as a Web developer or in the future as a Cross-Platform App developer. I have experience with programming front-end for about 2 years (mostly Html, Css and Vuejs) and with the back-end for about a year (mostly Php and Rest API).
